"We are primary care physicians offering Family Practice, Internal Medicine and Pediatrics. We deliver health care with a significant emphasis on focusing on our patients," said Dr. Mary Yankaskas, Managing Physician. "Because our doctors and staff are patient-focused, we see our patients each as an individual with their own history and needs."

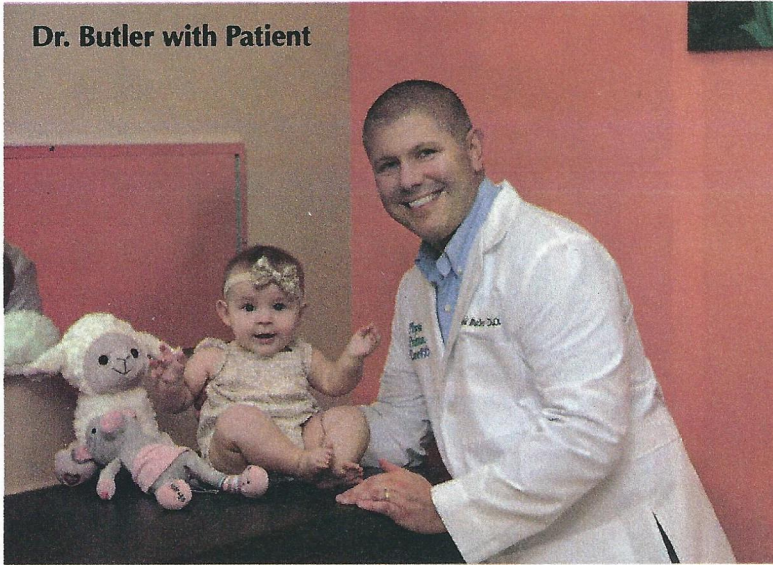

Physicians' Primary Care offers you a multi-specialty group consisting of more than 45 providers specializing in internal medicine, family practice and pediatrics with offices located in Fort Myers, Cape Coral and Lehigh Acres. You may choose from their conveniently located nine locations plus their radiology, laboratory and Physical Therapy offices.

"We have been in Lee County 23 years and we began as a physician-owned practice that was independent of the hospitals and we have grown to become the largest independent physician-owned practice in Southwest Florida," said Dr. Mary, "I enjoy being the managing partner and working with our very qualified administrator Annette Pounders, FACMPE and our skilled administrative team. They support all our departments, radiology, lab, physical therapy, billing, IT, etc., so we physicians can focus on taking the best care of our patients."

TV audiences rooted for the (now) 83-year-old with the hang dog face and pageboy bob cut. Paying customers are in for a twist. The first words out of her mouth are a blistering blue streak about all the ways she'd like to do that young fellow who opens the show, Carmen Vallone. A third layer of potential for Grandma is how she blends right in with the slot duffers smoking up the Palace Station nickel machines on a weeknight. She's one of their own. Opening act Vallone stands out in a white tie that shouts, "I'm a comedian." But when he introduces Lee and she rises from the back booth, it's as if she's been hiding in plain sight.
